As we leave Oakwood, we can not forget the lasting impressions that our teachers have given us.

Mrs. Bender's "What's-his-name" . . . Mr. Andrew's "Do, re, mi" . . . Mr. Price's "Whan that Aprille" . . . Mr. Keller's "cheerios" . . . Mr. Suter's "Girls, girls" . . . Mr. Kindy and his coffee can . . . Mrs. Schwab's "You are going to take showers!" . . . Mr. Shisler's "We're going to have an experience." . . . Mr. Kuhn's "Don't cross the state line" . . . Mr. Carr's "Lulu days" ... Dr. Miller's "I don't quite know how to say this." . . . Mr. Greene's corny jokes . . . Mr. Steinke's "Well, they're not good" . . . Mr. Juniper's "Did you get what you came for?" . . . and Mr. Kern's "Quelle salade!".

School is composed of hard work, social entertainment, and preparation for a career in life, but school is also made up of teachers who leave impressions that are still evident years after high school graduation.

Try to Remember . . .

As we, the graduating class of 1968, look back upon our years at Oakwood High School, all of us will remember special classes, sayings, special events, innovations, activities, and friends.

Who can forget Mr. Juniper's "You don't know what you don't know," or Mr. Kindy's Bumble Bee song, or the Dynamic Duo of Price and Suter? We remember teachers saying things like, "Now Pe-eople," "Splendid!", "Oh, De—ah," "Elucidate," and "Ah Ca c'est nouveau?!"

As we leaf through the Acorn, we recall Mr. Andrew's Five Point Plan and Mrs. Sipe's "Hic, Haec, Hoc." These teachers' research themes, exams, homework, and more homework helped us to form a sound basis for our future years at college.

Try to remember such famous phrases around school as: "Daggers!", "Dogs," "Honds," Moby Dick, R.G.C., "1000 as One, " and "Easy, we-e-e ya."

Hours of work went into the first school play, Our Town, given our junior year, which only could have been outdone by our senior class play, Murder in the Cathedral, in St. Paul's Church. Both were impressionistic; the first with lack of scenery, the second with stain glass make-up and costume. Our senior class also worked hard and well together to produce the tremendous success of our senior prom, A Christmas Carol.

Innovations were well under way our senior year, remember? The grading system was changed from the hundred-point system to a weighted, four-point grading system; and, seniors with a 2.5 or better average were exempted from study hall. The walks, short naps, the privacy and freedom were well worth the extra effort for the minimum 2.5. average.

After five hard days in the grueling classrooms and burning the candle late at night, we seniors always relaxed with a change of pace on the weekends. Friday night was the "Big Game," and, if we were fortunate, an openhouse followed. From the Nulle Sette to the Dutchmasters, from the Boomerand to the Bugaloo, we enjoyed those openhouses. Remember such goldies as "Get Off My Cloud," "Gloria," and "Beat the Clock?"

As seniors of Oakwood High School, we led our school in JCOWA, NHS, Student Council, sports, Red Cross, band, and choir. Jim Wilson represented Oakwood in the National Merit Finals. The Dayton Junior Philharmonic selected three seniors during their years at Oakwood: Tom Johnson, Karen Lingrell, and Steve Metcalfe. Craig Loucks was rated among the top five-hundred basketball players in the nation. And John Taska qualified to enter the National Speech Contest proudly to represent our school again.

But, most important, remember the friendships. Activities last a school year, but a friendship can last a lifetime.

Yes, try to remember all these things: Northmont games, ice-storms, Dr. Miller, "Whan Dat Aprille," Thomas a Becket, and Evening in Tivoli. They all led to Pomp and Circumstance. "And t'was a consummation devoutly to be wished."

"Beachcombers" Highlights Junior Year

JUNIORS ATTEMPT chemistry experiment.

The juniors entered their year with confidence and eagerness to participate in the many school activities and functions.

On the varsity sport teams-both girls and boys-the juniors took an active part and added much to the teams' successes. Six junior cheerleaders, Ingrid Westin, Lisa Dodds, Dena Michaelson, Pattie Alexander, Kathy Herbert, and Nancy Brundige were chosen to enliven the school spirit and to encourage the boys in the games.

After having read Moby Dick and the Scarlet Letter in English, the question of the day was, "What did you see in the hall today?" Symbolism bacame an everyday word until Huckleberry Finn was assigned to the class.

The peak of events was an assembly in November when fifteen juniors, fourteen girls and one boy, were elected to the National Honor Society.

At the beginning of the year Betta Bak-Jensen from Denmark entered Oakwood to experience her junior year in the United States. The entire class adopted her immediately and regretted not having her return for another year. Two juniors Nancy Brown and Doug Hahn, were chosen as candidates from Oakwood for the AFS exchange program abroad.

In the spring, the juniors not only tried out for the school play, but spent many hours planning and decorating for the annual Beachcomber's Ball at the Oakwood Y.

By the end of the year, all juniors had survived their PSAT's, National Merit Qualifying Scholarship Tests, and College Boards, and were ready to relax and enjoy their senior year.

AN ESSENTIAL need for research papers in the junior year is being able to type.

Sophomores Plan The Midnight Hour

The sophomores entered senior high with much anticipation and enthusiasm, ready to be indoctrinated into the customs and traditions of the school.

There were many firsts which were met and eagerly accepted by all sophomores. Some of the important ones were being able to attend the parties and open houses at the Oakwood Y, to join the juniors and seniors in the auditorium for assemblies, and to plan and decorate their first prom.

The sophomores were well represented in all sports by both the boys and girls. The reserve cheerleaders for basketball games were selected and included Susan Penny, Mary Maher, Jane Routsong, Lois Bush, Barbara Boucher, and Barbara Brundige.

In the fall, the traditional decision was made in choosing a class ring. Many other individual decisions were made such as joining JCOWA, Hi Y, Tri Hi Y, Pen and Brush, and GAA.

The class presented its first prom in March, using the theme "Midnight Hour". Many hours were spent by the sophomores not only in planning and decorating for this event, but also in selling candy to finance it.

Freshman Lead Junior High

FRESHMEN OFFICERS-Bob Landis, vice-president; Mark Beardmore, treasurer; Mark Erbaugh, secretary; and Steve Frame, president.

For the first time, too, the freshman had the opportunity of choosing their own curriculum and of accepting school invitations in classes of advanced English and math.

Many boys and girls participated in the athletic programs for freshman, which included football, basketball, tennis and track for boys and hockey and tennis for girls. The freshmen cheerleaders included Nancy Lee, Kris Giambrone, Barb August, Katie Bates, Sheila Brown, Ruth Hardy, Kathy Requarth, Dorothy Rosa, Joan Sealy, Tammy Williams, and Anne Wagner.

The year ended with memories of bug and leaf collections, mythology characters, first formal dresses, freshman awards, academic attainment, and the anticipation of becoming a member of the senior high.

Junior High Students Meet New Challenges

EIGHTH GRADER forgets combination.

After having had a year to adjust to the high school routines, traditions, and requirements, the eighth graders started their year with much enthusiasm and spirit. Study habits and patterns acquired in the seventh grade were meant much to the boys and girls in getting off to a fast start.

Taking the middle road by not being a beginner and still not being the top grade in junior high, the eighth graders were quick to respond to more of the same. However, there were many new experiences, and old ones became more meaningful. There was more active participation in sports, clubs, and school activities. The boys were active in football, basketball, baseball, track, and tennis; while the girls competed in intramural hockey, volleyball, and basketball. Social activities consisted of several parties at the Oakwood Y.

CLAY IS introduced in seventh and eighth grade art classes.

A new world was opened to the seventh graders as they entered their first year of junior high. Most boys and girls were apprehensive as they entered the portals of the "Lumberjacks," not knowing what the changes would be like from their grade school courses of study.

After adjusting to the many new practices and experiences, orientation, changing classes, exams, "Lulu Days," electing officers, daily assignments, and participation in school activities, the eighth graders had a challenging and interesting year.

Many boys and girls participated in both intramural and interscholastic sports. The social activities were centered around several parties given at the Oakwood Y.

The boys' sports were spurred on by six cheerleaders, namely Lisa Herbert, Leslie Gorog, Jenny Herron, Sara Lonstech.

The official class activities were guided by the class officers, consisting of Phil Hayes, president; Allan Ash, vice-president; Sara Longstrech, secretary; and Houk Hitchcock, treasurer.

Under the guidance of advisor Mrs. Gray, the Junior Jack was launched into its second year of publication. This paper was created to give the junior high students a paper of their own. In keeping with the philisophy of a publication written by and for seventh and eight graders, the staff is composed of junior high students. The Junior Jack goes to press once a month, and its publication served as a medium of expression and student recognition for the school, the community, and personal activities.

Besides reporting on the activities of the seventh and eighth grade, the paper had several feature columns such as "Dear Jack" and "Dear Jill" which offered solutions to the problems of the junior high students, and "Oakwood Action" a column patterned after the Journal Herald's "Action Line", which answered questions concerning the school and the community.

In every issue, articles were run that contain information that is particularly interesting to junior high students. The combination of feature articles, advice columns, informative articles, and personal interview added a personal touch to the paper and provided the formula for a successful year.

Student Council Sets New Trends

STUDENT COUNCIL-BACK ROW: Steve Hoffman, R. Stansfield, M. Erskine, M. Kennedy, D. Mellinger, D. Bohalander, F. Pierce, M. Schaeffer. FRONT ROW: K. Herbert, N. Brown, N. Martin, B. Boucher, J. Tye.

Under the leadership of officers: Mike Kennedy, Kathy Herbert, Mark Erskine, and Nancy Brown, the Student Council completed one of its most active and efficient years. This year the Council sponsored the Homecoming and Basketball dances.

On the academic front it was the Student Council that initiated the new honor roll system and it set the average required for seniors to be exempted from exams. Student Court was again run under the auspices of the Student Council, and the Student Council became a member of the Dayton Area Student Council for the first time.

The purpose of the Student Council as stated in the Constitution is to encourage better school spirit, to develop student responsibility, and to bring about a closer relationship between the faculty and the student body . . .," and this year's council achieved their goal.

Foreign Guests Stimulate Interest in Other Lands

In the second year of its existence, the French Club, under the direction of Wendy Williams, president, and Mr. Richard Kern, Miss Barbara Wilson, and Mr. Robert Anderson, advisors, took an active interest in French culture. The Club took a trip to see a French acting company as its major excursion of the year. In its noon meetings, the Club studied slides of the French countryside and cities. The Club also sponsored French films which were shown at the meetings and in the various French classes.

The large group was aided in its study of French by ICYE student, Christine Veyrat, a French-speaking native of Geneva, Switzerland. Christine was a honorary officer and assisted the Club by giving announcements in French. Oakwood and the French Club were lucky to have Mme. Miconnet, a French citizen, who taught in the Oakwood system for six weeks. Christine and she gave several informative lectures.

The purpose of the French Club was to atimulate an interest in French and to promote additional exposure to the French language and cultures other than that of the classrooms.

The Russian Club, in its first year, spent an active year in stimulating interest in this complex language and culture under the supervision of Jon Stout, president; Gail Vines and Nancy Johnson, vice-president; Sue Bradley, secretary-treasurer; and advisor Mr. Raymond Bair.

The Club members tasted Russian foods, prepared by Club members at an informal dinner. They also had a Russian Christmas party, complete with gift exchange and Russian Christmas carols. The Club took a trip to a Greek Orthodox Church, the closest thing to the Eastern Orthodox Church of Russia in the city of Dayton.

Club members planned the assembly at which Mrs. Malakova, a representative of the Education and Educational Sciences Program of Moscow spoke to senior high students on Russian education.

Dr. James Jonah Speaks During U.N. Week

United Nations Week marked the beginning of JCOWA's very active year. Dr. James Jonah, an ambassador to the U.N. flew to Dayton in order to speak at a senior high assembly on the topic "The Role and Effect of the U.N. on the World."

JCOWA's annual Foreign Bazaar was held on October 16 in the girls' gym. Because there was a limited amount of material available on the countries of Eastern Europe, the section of the world designated for last year's study, several nations represented were not necessarily in Eastern Europe. The winners of the best exhibits were China, Switzerland, and Turkey. Preceding the announcement of the awards, JCOWA members heard an interesting debate on "Vietnam: Stay or Pull Out?"

Participating in city wide JCOWA discussions, a number of Oakwood JCOWA members spent a day at the University of Dayton hearing debates and reports on the Eastern Europe countries. The Model General Assembly was of great interest to Oakwoodites. Held at Malter, the MGA was attended by twenty-five senior high students; many of whom participated in the walkouts staged by several Soviet block countries.

The climax of the year came in April for many of the senior members in a fascinating and fun-filled week spent in New York and Washington with other area JCOWA members. The bus tour included trips to the U.N., Statue of Liberty, and Capitol Building.

The other social event in which all JCOWA members could participate was held in June. This picnic was as much fun as the bus tour, and students participated in it with just as much enthusiasm.

Mr. Richard Seifried was the club's adviser.

Red Cross Initiates New Projects

RED CROSS OFFICERS—Carolyn Hirsch, secretary; Marsha Miller, vice-president; and Claire Henry, president; wrap Christmas presents for area hospitals.

Oakwood's Red Cross Chapter, under the guidance of new advisor, Miss Sarah Westrick, and the enthusiastic leadership of president Claire Henry, spent an active year visiting nursing homes, decorating various hospitals for national holidays, and tutoring underprivileged children in the city schools. In addition to their annual book cover sales, the chapter sponsored a boutique at the Four-Arts Exhibit and sold pretzels to help finance the Chapter's numerous projects.

The Chapter strove to make their Organization better known in the school. They provided a means for interested students to help the less fortunate members of their community. Through their projects, the individuals in the organization showed that Oakwood was a school which was interested in the welfare of others.

NHS Members Learn About Other Societies

NHS OFFICERS-Mark Erskine, vice-president; Chuck Ford, president; Ann Hoeland, secretary; and Jim Wilson, treasurer; wait for their cake at the induction luncheon.

Oakwood's National Honor Society had another active year under the guidance of advisor, Mrs. Sipe. In a dimly lighted auditorium, the Oaktree Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted twenty-three new members at a November ceremony. Following the induction, the inductees and members of the faculty committee were guests at a luncheon planned by the old members. After the ordeal of initation, Mrs. Sipe explained the ideals and meaning of being a member of the Society. The Chapter held its annual Alumni Tea which was attended by about fifty people, at Nancy Brown's home. The Chapter finished its year with meetings in which all the members heard outside speakers and a panel of college freshmen on their impressions on college, before and after they arrived at school.

The purpose of the Chapter in Oakwood and its community were the same as the ideals of the Society in every school and community. The Society attempted to develop character in each of its members, to create enthusiasm for scholastic achievement, to promote the development of good leaders, and to stimulate an interest in rendering service.

Members Spend Many Saturdays at Contests

TOOLS OF a debater's trade.

Oakwood's National Forensic League spent another active season as its members attended speech contests every weekend for a four month period, which began in November and ended in February. The Oakwood Club hosted two of these contests during the season, one tournament for individual events and the other for debaters. The Club also sent several students to the State Tournament, a contest which determines which individuals represent Ohio in the National Tournament, in Hawaii during the summer.

In addition to their speaking sctivities, the speech particcipants had their annual bake sale at the Four-Arts Exhibit. Members also arranged the student-faculty game in order to raise money for their activities. At the close of the speech season, members were honored at the yearly speech banquet.

The Club's main function in the school is to provide an opportunity for those interested in developing individual talent in public speaking, a chance to become more proficient in this field. The Oakwood NFL also provided recognition for those students outstanding speaking ability.

The Senior High Youth Council worked hard this year to achieve its purpose of providing Y activities for senior high students. With Mr. Matthews as advisor and senior Rick Nichols as president, the Council took on many ambitious projects.

The Council sponsored service projects consisting of high school students who put on talent shows for the patients at Barney Children's Hospital and the Dayton State Hospital.

On a social level, the Council supervised all post-game open houses as wll as the dances at New Year's Eve, Tournabout, and Beachcombers. The Council also began in the Fine Arts Club which was advised by English teacher, Mr. Ronald Price. This year, under the eyes of the Council, junior high and senior high Ski Clubs were established.

THE SKI CLUB, sponsored by the Youth Council, waits on the junior high steps for the bus which will take them on one of their excursions to Valley High in Bellefontaine.

Unusual Speakers Highlight Each Meeting

Quill and Scroll began its year with the induction of new members by advisor Miss Esther Crisman at a dinner ceremony at the Oakwood Club on January 17. Fifteen juniors and seniors involved on the Acorn and Oak Leaf staffs joined this journalism club which is a national organization

To be eligible, inductees had to have a three point average, be a junior or senior, and be a conscientious and responsible worker on the yearbook or newspaper staff.

The Club met once a month when speakers were invited to explain to the members, their various professions. From the field of journalism, members heard the managing editor of the Dayton Daily News and a representative from a publishing company. Also invited were a teacher who was involved in the field of Progressive Education and a doctor who is an experimenter in new x-rays techniques.

The purpose of the organization was to introduce young people to the world of journalism, and to provide an opportunity for those individuals who were genuinely interested in a career in journalism to learn from professionals the amount of work and skill needed for success. These noon meetings also provided the only time at which all members of the high school journalism department were together a common interest.

New Columns Featured in Oakleaf

STAFF MEMBERS John Taska, Katie Cauley, Gail Vines, and Jeri Jervis study type sheets to decide headlines for future papers.

This year, the Oak Leaf, edited by senior Carlee Rader and advised by Miss Esther Crisman and Mr. James Romick, followed the improvements suggested by Carlee in connection with her studies at Indiana University during the summer. The past two summers, Carlee has earned third place in both advertising and editing at work shops held at the University. This, year she assumed the position of editor-in-chief on the Oak Leaf.

For the second year in a row, the Oak Leaf sponsored a page for Christmas greetings. This year, sixty salutations and quips appeared on the third page of the Christmas edition of the school paper. Any student or teacher was able to say "Happy Holidays" to fellow students and members of the faculty.

Several new columns appeared on the paper this year, of which the most popular among the boys was "Around the Rim With Dave." The writer of this column provided coverage of all members of the Varsity basketball squad except himself. Parts of nearly every issue were devoted to topics from or about six foreign exchange students. Editorials continued to arouse discussion among high school students.

The purpose of the paper was to inform all students of club activities, to provide a voice for the student body, and to give recognition to deserving individuals. Our small paper also provided elementary instruction for those students interested in the field of journalism.

Opening Section "Impressionism" Sets New Trend

Last year, the Acorn increased its advertising staff as well as its advertising rates in order to meet rising publishing costs. Peter Mitchell, sales manager, and Mr. Romick, business advisor, initiated an improved advertising program, thus aiding the yearbook's financial standings.

Experimenting with the opening section, editors Barb Palmer and Chuck Ford, under the supervision of Consolidated Graphic Arts advisor, Mr. Stevens, and Miss Crisman, school journalism advisor, decided to try to express a theme with pictures instead of words. They worked with a theme of contrasts in which the only copy was the head lines.

Although the staff met the first deadline with the typical, traditional confusion, the subsequent deadlines were met with a minimum of choas. Since our photographs were far better this year than they have ever been before, thanks to Schwabe Studios, the staff did not have to worry about fuzzy pictures which are detrimental to a good yearbook. With a larger staff, the copy writing and typing was an easier job this year. Despite serveral crises, the staff worked well and hard to produce a fine yearbook which they proudly presented to the rest of the student body at the end of May.

ADVERTISING STAFF members Kathy Herbert, Peter Mitchell, Karn Werner, and Dave Mellinger check off ad contracts for their section.

Four-Arts Exhibit Highlights Art Club Year

Last year, art students returned from summer vacation to find a redecorated art room. Separate desks with adjustable drawing boards gave each student more room to work on his various art projects.

The art department's annual show, the Four-Arts Exhibit was a great success. Many of the Pen and Brush Club's members received awards for their creations. Art exhibits for the show were again arranged in the cafeterias. Club members, taking a day off from their classes, visited a well-known museum in the spring.

This year, the Pen and Brush Club assumed the responsibility for the showcase outside the high school office. The various exhabits on display were changed after each art project in the art classes was completed. In this way, the Club members stimulated an interest and knowledge of art for the high school students.

Winning, A Tradition for Chess Club

CHESS CLUB-Standing: G. Morris, D. Grillot, C. Cretcher, S. Cornwell, S. Stockslager, P. Kirgis, R. Price, S. Mandas, D. Iams, M. Erskine, J. Wilson, D. Ohmart, Mr. Seigfried, advisor. Sitting: B. McCants, B. Berner, A. Trusty, J. Cole.

The Chess Club, under the direction of officers Mark Erskine, Jim Wilson, and Dave Ohmart, enjoyed an active and successful season. Dual matches with neighboring rival schools were scheduled throughout the year with the culmination of the season at the Greater Dayton Chess League Tournament. The Chess Club has won this tournament for the last seven years straight.

Although the club's main purpose is to win tournaments, the club has an even greater goal. Chess makes a person think, and, naturally, thinking improves the mind. So the Chess Club combines competition with education and comes up with a winning combination.

New Uniforms, New Band Room Provide Excitement

PERFECTION REQUIRES much practice for all band members.

The Oakwood High School band, under the direction of Mr. Frederick Walker and Band Captain Steve Hicks, began its active season with its annual performance at the Ice Cream Social on September 5. Marching season got under way at the first football game, Lima Bath, and ended with the Jacks' victory at Northmont. Senior band members were honored in the half-time show on a sloppy field during the Eaton game. For most of the marching season, band members were forced to perform in ankle deep mud while struggling to maintain their balance in their complicated drill formations.

The Pep Band, composed of the outstanding band members, played at pep assemblies throughout the year. They added much to the assemblies through their enthusiasm and school spirit.

Involving itself in community and state-wide functions, the marching band performed at the Montgomery County Fair, Kettering Holiday at Home Parade, and at a Miami football game. The orchestra appeared in two concerts in an attempt to win their twelfth straight superior award for concert playing and sightreading.

In the first of two band concerts, soloist Karen Lingrell, a High School Hall of Fame Musician, and Phil Boucher, band property officer, were featured in the concert entitled Music That Matters. Held in February, this concert was a great success, following a traditional pattern established by Mr. Walker's band.

This year was highlighted for the musicians by the purchase of new uniforms for all band members. Off stage, the band members participated in touch football games after late practice sessions and enjoyed the annual band picnic in the spring.

The largest major purpose of the band was to provide music education through participation in a musical organization. This training was continued on the marching field in Mack Hummon Stadium, as well as on the OHS Stage for most of the year since the band room was being enlarged.

This year the vocal music department took a more active part in school activities. Led by president Steve Metcalfe, the choir preformed at the half-time ceremonies in which Oakwood's stadium was dedicated to Mack Hummon. Singing "Mr. Touchdown, U.S.A." the choir added a moving and personal touch to the September 29 ceremony.

The choirs, under the direction of Mr. Glenn Uhl, held their annual Christmas concert on December 17. The high school choir sang "When the Christ Child Came" by J.W. Clokey, an inspiring end to a magnificent concert.

In December, the high school choir traveled to the Springfield Masonic Home to sing their cantata. Several of the more experienced ensembles were also asked to sing their Christmas arrangements.

Although hampered by scheduling difficulties, the choir met every day during the fourth period in room 2. This large group was led by Steve Metcalfe, president; Nancy Harbottle, vice-president; Betsy Kinlaw, secretary. Librarians, Linda Wietzel and Caryl Owen, passed out the music at the beginning of each class period. The choir, through its splendid performance, promoted an interest in music throughout the high school.

Murder in the Cathedral Performed at St. Paul's

When Mr. Joseph Suter announced his choice of Murder in the Cathedral for the senior class play, his decision was not met with ecstasy by the students. Many who had read the play felt it was too somber and phiosophical for a school production. Despite the grumbling, the entire class pitched in and gave a preformance that was unique and meaningful.

Mr. Suter's dream of a natural setting came true when Mr. Bumiller, the acting rector at St. Paul's, agreed to allow the play to be performed in the church. Mr. Suter was aided in much of the planning by Mr. Ronald Price, English teacher, student director, Robin Gorog, and musician, Tom Johnson, composer of all the music for background and the choir.

Even a serious play had its light moments. Who will never forget Mr. Suter's "Now, people" and "Girls! Girls!!" Actors were often convulsed by "Late, late, late, too late."

It would be wrong to say that both performances went exactly as planned. On Friday, the lights did not dim for five minutes after Thomas was stabbed, and Thomas could not stand up until the lights had gone down. There was a constant worry that the spokesman for the Women of Canterbury might have to leave the set because of sickness.

On Saturday night, one priest and one knight-tempter left the scenes ill; their lines had to be spoken by other healthy actors. In spite of these problems, the play could only be called a successful venture which will long be remembered for its deep meaning, simplicity, and unusual setting.

"Servants of God and watchers of the temple,
The Archbishop is in England, and is close outside the city."

"No faith do I owe a renegade

"And meanwhile we have gone on living, living and partly living."

"As you do not know me, I do not need a name
And, as you know me, that is why I come."

Shakespeare Makes Debut on OHS Stage

THE FINE art of make-up application must be mastered before opening night.

THE CLOWNISH Dogberry is the cause of an amused look from his cohort Verges, as Claudio, a young lord of Florence, dreams about his love, Hero.

For the first time in Oakwood's history, a work of the master, William Shakespeare, appeared on the OHS stage. Under the direction of drama instructor, Mr. Joseph Suter, Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing was presented as the all-school play on four different nights in May.

Mr. Suter chose to use a 1920 setting in order to make the play more meaningful. This particular setting was decided on because it would save money on costumes.

Mr. Suter was assisted in this production by seniors Cammie Berg, student director; Tom Johnson, lighting design; and Karen Lingrell, who was in charge of the music used in each performance. Gaining much experience in their first dramatic endeavor were juniors Nancy Brown and Dena Michaelson.

Many members of the cast were experienced actors. Principal men characters John Tye, Steve Metcalfe, Brad Williams, and Jim Wilson had important roles in Murder In the Cathedral. Beth Macaulay and Sally Fogt were important members of the Our Town cast. The outstanding amount of cooperation from the student body helped to make this play a great success.

Victorian Christmas Depicted by Seniors

As the prom-goers walked into the balcony of the girls' gym and stepped down the red-carpeted staircase, they entered a nineteenth century living room which was decorated for Christmas. Standing in the middle of the dance floor, they could look out on a Victorian England, portrayed in the murals, which covered each of the windows. Dancers could see a family of carolers on a street corner as well as an energetic snowball fight, just a few steps way.

The living room was brightly and fascinating decorated with topiary trees at each entrance, and miniatures trees on each table for center pieces. Above the dancers, a mirrored ball revolved slowly, reflecting light from the many German bells which swayed gently from the ceiling.

Victorian chairs under a large, blue bunting canopy faced a huge Christmas tree which was decorated with strands of popcorn, cranberries, and handmade box ornaments. Canopies also hung over the band and the refreshment area. Pine roping interwined with Christmas tree lights was draped on the walls and from the ceiling.

The highlight of the evening came at 10:30 when Ann Hoeland and Peter Mitchell were crowned queen and king. Shortly after the coronation, another group of party-goers entered to the lines of "Oom-pah-pah" and "Here We Come a-Wassailing." The entertainment continued with "Flash, Band, Wallop," and ended with the original composition of the "Twelve Days of Oakwood."

"A Christmas Carol" was a memorable prom, and memorable events are never accidents. Co-chairman Carlee Rader and Jeff Hayes spent long and anxious hours working hard on every minute detail. Much as the two of them did, they had a lot of help from the committee chairmen and class advisors Mr. Price, Mr. Kuhns, and Mrs. Wood. Holly Nipson and Jim Eckert planned and painted all nine murals; the splendid entertainment was the work of Cammie Berg; Wendy Williams and Ann Hoeland collaborated on their ideas for bandstand and court decorations. Most important, however, was the amount of effort that every senior put into this prom.

"ON THE fifth day of Christmas, Mr. Kuhns said to me, 'Don't cross state lines'."

Paul Revere's America Shown by Sophs

SERIOUS SOPHOMORES discuss plans for "Midnight Hour."

Prom-goers entered the girls' gym to the music of Soul, Inc. Dancers felt as though they were dancing in the streets of an eighteenth century New England village. The walls were covered with paper in order to resembel the pre-Revolution shops of Massachusetts. Each of the murals resembled Early American scenes similar to those Paul Revere might have seen on his Midnight Hour ride to warn his countrymen of the British advances.

The bandstand was built to portray an old music shop, and refreshments were served in a large tavern. Under a flower-covered trellis, the king and queen were crowned.

Patty Hoyne Reigns as Homecoming Queen

The night of October 7 was beautiful, crisp, and clear, a perfect night for Homecoming festivities. Escorted by a majorette while the band played, the five queen candidates were chauffeured around the track in Triumphs. As each girl began his drive past the home stands, Mr. Shearer announced the name, that of her escort, and that of the driver of her car, who was one of the five top senior boys in scholastic achievement.

Patty squealed with delight as she was named queen and promptly burst into tears of joy as the band serenaded her and the rest of the court. Patty continued her duties as queen the next night as she presided over the annual Homecoming Dance.

Exchange Students Leave Wonderful Memories

INTERESTED OAKWOOD students Chuck Ford, Jr. Ambassador to Spain, and a seventh grader listen to Elisabeth Olsson, a native of Umea, Sweden; Ut Pumsa-Ard, AFS student from Thailand; and Betta Bak-Jensen, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark; as they describe their first impressions of the USA.

Oakwood was fortunate to have six foreign exchange students. Christine Veyrat, ICYE student from Geneva, Switzerland; Elisabeth Olsson from Umea, Sweden; and Betta Bak-Jensen from Copengagen, Denmark; represented Europe. Oakwood's two AFS students came from Asia, Rob Noakes from New Zealand and Surapon Pumas-Ard from Thailand. Elisa Rocha, an ICYE student, was a native of Brazil.

Each left his own mark on Oakwood. Betta and Elisabeth strengthed Oakwoodites' belief that all Scandanavians must be blondes. Who could forget Christine's French announcements and her "Say Me!." Everyone loved Rob's wonderful British accent. Ut delighted many with his athletic prowess, especially on the soccer field. Many will remember Elisa's cast for her dislocated knee and her love of "Honds" meetings.

While many exchange students came to Oakwood, other Oakwood graduates went abroad. Tim Larkin and Jim Beerbower spent the year in Jamaica and Sweden respectively as ICYE students. Cyndi Chandler, under the auspices of AFS, spent her year following graduation in Denmark. Oakwood senior Chuch Ford, winner of the Huffman Junior Ambassador Award planned for his sojourn in Spain following graduation.

Nancy Brown and Doug Hahn hoped and waited fearfully for a letter from the American Field Service informing them that they would spend a year abroad. Oakwood began to resemble the United Nations with all its foreign ambassadors.

ELISA ROCHA, an ICYE student from Brazil, and Christine Veyrat, an ICYE student from Geneva, Switzerland, discuss the differences between their former schools and Oakwood with senior Lucy Bergen.

Jacks Win Over Northmont Bright Spot In Dismal Season

Although the Oakwood Lumberjack football team struggled through a hard 2-7-1 season, the Friday night spectators still saw exciting football played by the Jacks.

The team started the season by playing games with Lima Bath, Trotwood, and West Milton. These three opponents proved to be rough opposition for the Oakwood eleven as they dropped all three games by sizable margins. Lima Bath was a new foe for the Jacks and turned out to be a big, well-drilled team that eventually ended the season with a 9-1 record.

After a few changes in the starting line-up, the Lumberjacks battled Brookville to a 0-0 tie. The game, which was played on a wet, muddy Mack Hummon Field turned out to be a defensive standoff, with the Jacks Head-Hunter squad doing a fine job on stopping Blue Devil fullback Brady Skinner.

Following two losing games with West Carrollton at Homecoming and Tipp City, who showed a fine running game, Oakwood finally got untracked on Parent's Night by rolling over the Northridge Polar Bears 22-6. Roger Beardmore, who was started at right halfback, provided much of the Jacks success with the running game as the Head-hunters easily held the Polar Bear's weak offense.

The Jacks were reunited with their old Nemesis—mistakes—which proved to be their downfall at Vandalia-Butler, and again on a wet night at home with Eaton.

On the night of November 10 the Oakwood fans were treated to be the most exciting football game in many years, as the Lumberjacks put together a balanced attack with a ferocious defense to topple once-beaten Northmont from the top of the Southwestern Buckeye League standings. After a scoreless first period the Lumberjack line began to open holes for hard-running Bill Tinnerman and Wes Callender while also providing superb pass protection for quaterback Jon Stout. "Little Dipper" Stout threw a 14 yard touchdown pass to Pete Alexander but the play was called back for clipping. Two plays later Stout pitched to Roger Beardmore who stopped and lofted a perfect pass back to his quarterback who made a great catch and went in to score.

This broke the scoring ice as Oakwood scored in the third period on a Jon Stout-Pete Alexander pass, and after two sweeps by Bill Tinnerman behind some excellent blocking, Stout scored again on a quarterback sneak. The Head-Hunters, led by Seniors Bill Carlin, Jeff Hayes, and Tim Layman, held the vaunted T-Bolt running attack scoreless until late in the game, while at the same time providing a strong pass rush. Final score: Oakwood 18, Northmont 8.

Post season honors were awarded to Bill Tinnerman for his place on the Southwestern Buckeye All-League team as defensive halfback, Bill Carlin, Tim Layman, and Jon Stout were named Honorable Mention. Bill Tinnerman was awarded with Honorable Mention on the Greater Dayton team and was also Oakwood's Most Valuable Player.

Cross Country Team Finishes Fourth In S.W.B.L.

Lead by seniors Fred Pierce and Jim Wilson, the Oakwood Cross-Country harriers used a team effort throughout the season to gain their meet victories and to ultimately grab fourth place in the Southwestern Buckeye League meet. Coach Howard Carr had his men out training in the late summer in order to find his best seven runners. With returning harriers Pierce and Wilson providing the backbone of the team, juniors Rich Gage and Hugh Stephenson, and sophomores Bruce Henry gained crucial points in the close Lumberjack victories. In the League meet Fred Pierce and Bruce Henry finished fifth and nineteenth respectively to help the Jacks to a respectable fourth place finish among ten teams.

Fred Pierce placed sixteenth out of eighty-four boys in the District Cross-Country meet and missed going to the State meet by only one place. Freddy was also honored at the end of the year by being given the Best-Cross Country Man Award for 1967.

The Jacks found their first victory in the "sunken sauna" against West Milton, but lost the following game to Miamisburg in overtime. The Jack cagers could not repeat their 1966 performance in the Kettering Invitiational Tournament as they bowed to Fairmont West and Alter.

Then came the fireworks. Coach Gardner affectionately called the Wedgewood Kid used a 1-2-2 zone defense to upset Tipp City by 13 points. After losing one to Colonel White, the cagers won three in a row before losing to second-rated Centerville. The Lumberjacks finished the season with three more victories against Eaton, Northmont, and Fairborn, to wrap up a 9-9 record.

Craig Loucks finished with 353 points followed by Peter Mitchell with 352. Craig also led in the rebounding department with 287, with Tom Connell snaring 143 caroms. Craig Loucks was named to the JH first team.

STRAINING HARD, Craig Loucks tips the jump ball toward Tom Connell, here guarded by Miamisburg's all-area high scorer, Rex Gardecki (35). The Jacks lost in overtime, 69-59.

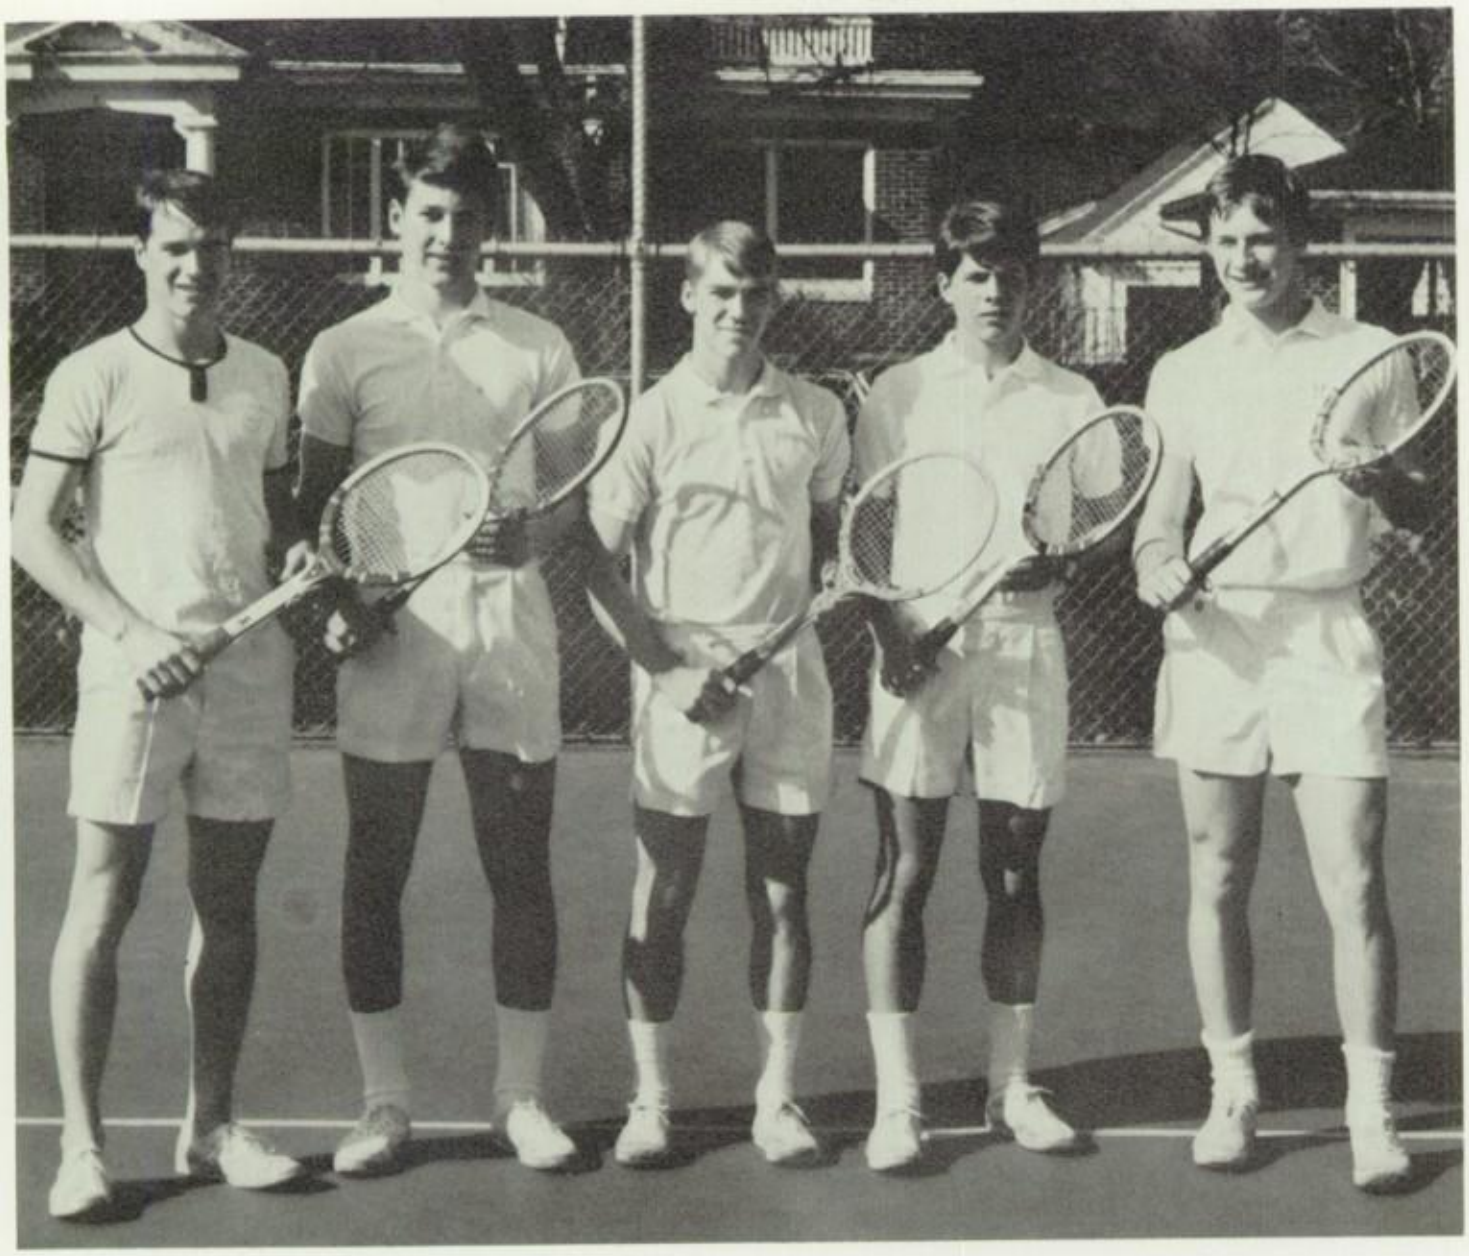
Reserve Cagers Point To Victory In Next Year's Season

RESERVE BASKETBALL TEAM—FRONT ROW: S. Taylor, C. Fitchey, G. Stout, D. Stansfield, B. Henry. BACK ROW: B. Lawson, T. Rudwall, A. Vontz, J. Stutson, W. McCoy.

Although suffering through a disappointing 3-13 season, the reserve basketball team showed considerable promise and ability for the future. The cagers looked especially strong in their victory against Northridge, with Brent Lawson clearing the boards and the fine ballhandling by Bruce Henry and Seth Taylor. Even in losing to Fairborn, one of the better reserve teams in the area, the Jacks used a maximum of hustle and determination to stay in the game.

As in past years the varsity team has been built by reserve recruits. Hopefully, this year's reserve team will mature into a strong varsity squad under Mr. Gardner.

GOING FOR two is Bruce Henry as Brent Lawson and Seth Taylor prepare for the rebound in the Fairborn game.



VARSITY TENNIS TEAM—P. Mitchell, T. Rudwall, F. Pierce, B. Walkup, A. Vontz.

Tennis Team Heads For State

Coach Anderson feels that this year's installment of the Oakwood tennis team will be a combination of power and finesse. The title of "best in the state" has been tacked on the team, and the players are determined to make it stick.

Leading the onslaught in the singles will be senior Fred Pierce, who has already been to the state competition. Tom Rudwall stands as a strong second singles man, and the two should vanquish all city opponents.

In the exciting doubles department, Bill Walkup and Seth Taylor provide a "dynamic duo," and newcomer to the nets Peter Mitchell should be in the thick of things also.

POISED FOR action that is fast and furious in doubles play are Peter Mitchell and Al Vontz.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL TEAM-FRONT ROW: J. Heck, J. Hobstetter, B. Coughlin, J. Requarth, M. Erbaugh, L. Thomas, B. Parcells. SECOND ROW: S. Walters, B. Whalen, J. Pierce, J. Keady, D. Gummer, N. Freshmen Finish with Fine 5-1-0 Record

After struggling through a 1-5 season as eighth graders this year's freshmen reversed themselves by practicing and playing football, and ended the season with a surprising and well-deserved 5-1 record.

Led by Captains Pat McCauley and Tim Kelch, the frosh fought through two one-touchdown victories before exploding against Mad River. With the bulldozer running of Fullback Steve Walters and opportune passing of Quarterback MaCauley, the Freshmen Jacks rolled up twenty points while holding their opponent scoreless for the third game in a row.

The fifth game was too much for the frosh as they lost to a bigger Alter team 26-0. The team finished the season with a flourish by smashing helpless Northridge 28-16. The game was another of the Lumberjack's great offensive shows coupled with a stingy defense which held opponents to a puny seven point average.

Jacks Golf Team Victorious In Match Play

Oakwood's golf team is not only pointing for the Southwestern Buckeye League trophy, but is also determined to do well in the state competition.

Derrick Stowe set the example by going into state match play last spring and senior letterman Mike Kennedy and newcomber Craig Loucks hope to do the same.

In match play they will be pushed by a group of talented underclassmen who have been coached under the watchful eye of Coach Earl Gardner.

DISPLAYING GOOD form, Steve Priest clears the high jump bar in a practice jump. Steve made 5'10" last year and is going for over 6'0" this season.

With a nucleus of experienced lettermen and a promising crop of underclassmen, the Lumberjack track team hopes to repeat as champions of the Southwestern Buckeye League. Returning thin-clads Rick Nichols, Matt Shaeffer, and Rick Gibbs will try to show their heels to the opposition in the dashes, while lettermen Roger Beardmore and Dave Marshall wear down their competition in the distance events.

In the field Bill Carlin should break the school discus record of 151 feet, and in teaming with Eric Jenkins, provide a good one-two punch in the shot. Additional field strength will be shown by Steve Priest in the high jump, and Jim Wilson in the broad jump. And newcomers Tim Arthur, Rob Noakes, Curt Schaeffer, and Bruce Henry will considerably bolster the team, both in the dashes and the distance events.

By winning the SWBL title with only 1½ points to spare, the Oakwood track team must be in top form if it is to repeat as champion for the sixth straight time. Yet it isn't often that Coach Howard Carr doesn't see gold in his boys' eyes, and this year is no exception.

Harriers Aim For Sixth Consecative SWBL Title

Diamondmen Excel

In losing some probable starters to other spring sports, the Oakwood baseball team must aquire new and untried talent to be successful this spring. Returning diamondmen Jon Stout, Tim Henness, Gary Batty, and Andy Chafin will form the core of Coach Matthews' team.

The pitching staff will have to be rebuilt with Joe Wiles and Gary Batty figuring in the rotation.

The outfield is anchored by seniors Mark Dalton and Wes Callender and will be rounded out by underclass talent. Coach Mathews feels that if the team matures quickly there will be some good days on the diamond this year for the Jacks.

GAA OFFICERS: Mary Maher, Ginger Gillaugh, Mrs. Schwab, Linda Wietzel, president, Libby Cox.

The Girls' Athletic Association is designed to encourage girls to participate in planned sports activities. Participation in intramural and interscholastic sports such as field hockey, volleyball, basketball, and Saturday morning bowling were ways in which girls may earn points toward a twenty point minimum needed to remain in GAA.

GAA also sponsored several ski trips during the winter. In the spring, the Awards Program presented awards to intramural winners and pins to girls with forty points or more. The girls celebrated the end of the school year by going on the annual trip to Coney Island in May.

Under the coach, Mrs. Buck, and managers Patty Brown and Cindy Ridell, the Freshman Hockey Team kept their spirits high despite a record of two wins, three losses. The first game, with Miami Valley, was played in the snow, but the freshmen managed to win, 5-0. The Trotwood Madison game brought another win, 3-2. The reserves of Lebanon, Fairmont East, and Vandalia Butler were the next opponents of the Oakwood freshmen. Although they were defeated in their last three games, the freshmen fought with perseverance and were a tough opposition.

Although the Jills were disappointed not to have had an undefeated season, they had fun and their hard work paid off. With the help of managers Linda Amann, Sally Riedmiller, and Jane Deuser, and coach, Mrs. Schwab, the Jills ended with a record of six wins, one loss, and one tie. The Varsity lost only to Oxford Talawanda, and tied with Wayne. The Jills exhabited their ability in the annual game with traditional rival Fairmont West by defeating the Dragons 8-0.

The aggressive forward line, made up of seniors Linda Wietzel, Cathy Herron, Julie Warner, Caryl Owen, and junior Nancy Brundige, scored a total of forty goals in eight games. The backfield, including Margaret Pfleger, Libby Cox, Ann Hoeland, Lucy Berger, Janet Wilson, Mary Maher, and goalies Hoddy Mackenzie and Susan Amann, permitted only three goals to be made by their opponents.

The reserve team finished their season with an undefeated record of seven wins, no losses. Forwards Christy Cooper, Nancy Connelly, Nancy Brown, Barb Brundige, and Kathy Herbert, combined their offensive skill for a total of twenty-two goals, while the backfield allowed their opponents to make only two goals.

At the Hockey Awards Banquet at the close of the season, Linda Wietzel was named Most Valuable Player and the leading scorer. Margaret Pfleger was awarded the Most Valuable Back.

Although losses exceeded wins, the Varsity Volleyball team played with determination in defeating Stebbins, Lebanon, and Wayne. With the efforts of Nancy O'Hara and Jane Shaffer, leading scorers on the Varsity team, a total of 234 points was scored by Varsity players.

The Junior Varsity's season was more successful, winning six games out of eight. High scorers on the Junior Varsity were Holly Hirsch and Belinda Powell, thirty-one points each, and Nancy Garrison contributing thirty points.

The season for both teams, although containing some upsetting defeats, was considered a successful one.

Jills Have Winning Basketball Season

The Girls' Basketball team had a successful season this year. Although hindered by problems of sickness and broken bones, the Jills finished well. Jane Shaffer seemed determined to compensate for these problems, as she averaged nearly forty points per game.

On the Junior Varsity the girls played equally as well. Leading scorers Linda Bates and Debbie Beyer helped to make the season of the Junior Varsity a winning one.

A quality portable is always a good bargain

Olympia

When you're choosing your new portable typewriter, don't be guided by price alone. ASK QUESTIONS!

• does it have the most modern features? • a full-size keyboard? • durability? • is the guarantee complete? • is the dealer a specialist? • does he check the typewriter completely before delivery? • can he service it locally?

Without a "yes" to all of these questions, your bargain may prove to be very costly. Protect your investment. Treat yourself to the best in portable typing. Choose a Precision-Built Olympia Portable. Four quality Olympia Portables to choose from: SM-9 Deluxe, SM-8, SF DeLuxe, Socialite.

Studying, school dances, grub day, and everyday happenings in the hall form the impressions that are remembered by students long after graduation. We would like to thank our advisors, Miss Crisman and Mr. Romick, our photographer, Mr. Schwabe of Schwabe Studios, and our publication representative Mr. Stevens for their help in capturing and presenting impressions of Oakwood High School, 1968.
